If I Can Stop One Heart from Breaking Pepper Choplin	And the stately ships go on To their haven under the hill; But O for the touch of a vanished hand,
Break, Break Ruth Morris Gray	And the sound of a voice that is still! Break, break, break, At the foot of thy crags, O sea! But the tender grace of a day that is dead Will never come back to me. Where the place called morning lies!

Fame is a Fickle Food

Emily Dickinson

Fame is a fickle food Upon a shifting plate Whose table once a Guest but not The second time is set.

Whose crumbs the crows inspect And with ironic caw Flap past it to the Farmer's Corn --Men eat of it and die.

> The Quest Unending Alfred Lord Tennyson from Ulysses

Though much is taken, much abides. And though we are not now which in old days moved earth and heaven: that which we are we are, One equal temper of heroic hearts, made weak by time and fate. But strong in will to strive to seek to find and not to yield.

> There is Sweet Music Here Alfred Lord Tennyson

There is sweet music here that softer falls Than petals from blown roses on the grass, Or night-dews on still waters between walls Of shadowy granite, in a gleaming pass; Music that gentlier on the spirit lies, Than tir'd eyelids upon tir'd eyes; Music that brings sweet sleep down from the blissful skies. Here are cool mosses deep, And thro' the moss the ivies creep, And in the stream the long-leaved flowers weep, And from the craggy ledge the poppy hangs in sleep.

> The Moon is Distant from the Sea Emily Dickinson

The Moon is distant from the Sea And yet, with Amber Hands She leads Him -- docile as a Boy Along appointed Sands He never misses a Degree

Texts

Hope Emily Dickinson

Hope is the thing with feathers That perches in the soul, And sings the tune--without the words, And never stops at all,

And sweetest in the gale is heard; And sore must be the storm That could abash the little bird That kept so many warm.

I've heard it in the chillest land, And on the strangest sea; Yet, never, in extremity, It asked a crumb of me.

Heart We Will Forget Him Emily Dickinson

Heart, we will forget him! You and I, tonight! You may forget the warmth he gave, I will forget the light.

When you have done, pray tell me That I my thoughts may dim; Haste! lest while you're lagging. I may remember him!

> Out of the Morning Emily Dickinson

Will there really be a morning? Is there such a thing as day? Could I see it from the mountains If I were as tall as they?

Has it feet like water-lilies? Has it feathers like a bird? Is it brought from famous countries Of which I have never heard?

Oh, some scholar! Oh, some sailor! Oh, some wise man from the skies! Please to tell a little pilgrim
